DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Parker (5,267,862). Parker discloses a removable elastic positioning appliance (column 10 line 20) comprising a shell having a hollow cavity shaped to receive teeth and capable of repositioning teeth, the shell having at least one protrusion 60 disposed along an edge of the hollow cavity (figure 10), as it is approximately the same distance from the edge of the hollow cavity as the claimed invention of figure 15B, which protrusion contacts a plurality of teeth to assist in holding the appliance in position (column 8 line 66), the at least one protrusion comprises continuous protrusion configured to fit in the undercut of the teeth (column 8 line 67) and to contact the teeth along the length of gingival margin and interdental areas. The appliance has at least one additional protrusion. It is the grooves in the cast that are used to make the protrusions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parker in view of Bergersen (5,645,420). Parker discloses an appliance that shows the limitations as described above; however, Parker does not show the protrusion mountable on the appliance. It would have been an obvious matter of choice to one of ordinary skill in the art as to how the protrusion is formed as the specification states that the protrusions may be sized, formed and located in any combination; however, Bergersen is used to show a mountable protrusion 60 on the appliance. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the protrusion mountable on the appliance in order to form the protrusion in the mouth of the patient in view of Bergersen.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed October 25, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The prior art show the claimed structural limitations of the claims. It is believed that the claimed intended use in which the applicant further defines the parts of the dental structure, although it does not patentably distinguish the claims from the prior art, is shown in Parker, such that Parker states that the height of contour of each tooth lies occlusal to the projections, which is the same as saying the projections lie in the undercut of each tooth, and that the grooves are cut adjacent to the gum line, which is understood as along the length of the gingival margin and interdental areas. It is noted that Parker also states that the flex outward in the sides of the shell in the figure is exaggerated to better illustrate the attachment means.
